

Abstract

A textile substrate is treated with a composition having a dye fixing agent and an ink receiving agent, for the subsequent printing with an ink jet printer. The dye fixing agent includes a reactive amino compound, and the ink receiving agent comprises inorganic particles. A resin binder can also be used where the dye fixing agent does not provide an adequate bond to the textile substrate.

5